being pushed around, leaned on, kicked, smacked, and, hit. But we've also paid close attention to style and details that make our waste receptacles attractive and able to blend with the rest of your décor.

The artisans who create our millwork custom build each receptacle and accessory to your exact specifications. This is not a one-size-fits-all offering. They know that what they build will have to stand up to years of use, so they patiently take the time to construct each piece with careful consideration.

For example, you can choose a receptacle that features our exclusive, durable Dur-A-Edge® top.

Who pays any attention to waste receptacles or laminate storage cabinets? Your customers will, especially if they look worn or broken, or if they don't function properly. After all, it's the last impression most customers have of a quick serve restaurant and that can leave a lasting impression. You need receptacles and cabinets that fit your decor and perform their function.

Plymold has engineered and built our waste receptacles and laminate cabinets to withstand years of

Dur-A-Edge® Receptacles

No chipping. No peeling.

We developed the Dur-A-Edge® process back in 1988 to provide our customers with longer life for their table edges. Over the years, we have extended its use to include seating and booths as well as receptacles and laminate cabinetry. Dur-A-Edge® provides excellent protection against the damage that detracts from the appearance of your store.

Dur-A-Edge® is made from polyurethane and creates a seamless bonded edge:

- Impact resistant
- No chipping or peeling
- No unsanitary, hard-to-clean build up between the edge and laminate surface
- Available on tray rails, top edges and vertical side panels

Dur-A-Edge® colors go all the way through, so the appearance and color of your edging will look great for years. And its tough, impact resistance means it stands up to repeated use, year after year.
